Letter to SAC, New York
RE: OLEG A. LYALIN

With regard to the member of the U. S. Navy and the member of the U. S. Army allegedly recruited by the Soviets abroad, this is being handled by [ ] in conjunction with representatives of the Army and Navy since both of these persons are outside the U. S.

b7E

With regard to [ ] as set out in the attached memorandum) [ ] has advised that it has learned that his contacts with the Soviets were made with the full knowledge of [ ] and the State Department, and this matter is being handled by those agencies.

b6
b7E

For your additional information, [ ] has advised that Lyalin originally approached that agency in 4/71 and reported that he was having matrimonial problems and was not progressing as well as he wanted in the KGB. He proposed furnishing information if the British would have him declared persona non grata. He claimed such action would bring him praise from the KGB and would also permit him to return to Russia where he would institute divorce proceedings against his wife. The situation changed, however, and Lyalin was not declared persona non grata but was operated in place until 9/1/71 when he was arrested by the police for drunken driving. In addition, on 9/2/71 a KGB friend of his wrote to him from Moscow and sent the letter to the Soviet Embassy, London, using Lyalin's KGB cover name. The letter was misdirected and reached the Chief of the KGB Residency in London who noted that the writer told Lyalin that he had been in contact with his wife and she had reported that Lyalin was unhappy in London and also was dissatisfied with his work in the KGB.

The Chief of the KGB Residency informed Lyalin that these statements were such as to necessitate his (Lyalin's) return to Moscow and he instructed Lyalin to proceed to the Soviet Trade Delegation where he worked and clear up his work and leave for Moscow the same night. Lyalin was permitted to leave the Soviet Embassy to travel the four miles to his place of employment without any escort and he took advantage of this to contact [ ] and arrange for his defection. He also contacted his current girl friend, Irina Georgiyevna Teplakova, wife of a Soviet delegate to the International Wheat Delegation and invited her to defect with him which she agreed to do. The [ ] representative in Washington has advised that the information which has been developed so far appears to indicate that Lyalin is a bona fide defector. However, [ ] is currently handling the immediate operational problems and will further interrogate Lyalin in depth when time permits.

Additional pertinent information will be furnished as received from [ ]. In addition, [ ] has offered to service any requests we may have for questioning Lyalin. Each office should consider this offer and submit any questions it feels should be submitted to Lyalin concerning the information he has already furnished or any information he may have which would be of interest to the Bureau.

Bureau agrees with New York's suggested changes in the investigation of the [redacted] as set forth in relet. As indicated, telephone call card checks have not been productive of any information indicating nature of [redacted] intelligence activity and may be eliminated. Limiting the review of bank records to record only withdrawals and deposits is also logical.

Bureau also agrees with New York's observation and that our primary objective should be to prevent [redacted] from being able to act effectively for the Soviets. One means of accomplishing this may have been provided by the recent open defection in England of Oleg A. Lyalin. While Lyalin has [REDACTED] furnished no information to date concerning [REDACTED] or his family. He has obviously furnished a great deal of information to [REDACTED] as a number of Soviet operations and the action of the British Government in expelling a large number of Soviets has received considerable attention in the world press.

[REDACTED] because of the number of years that he has worked for the Soviets, must be known to a substantial number of KGB officers who have been assigned to the Soviet Mission in New York and to the various American desks in KGB Headquarters. The identity of [REDACTED] could, therefore, conceivably have been learned by Lyalin through conversations over the years with any number of fellow KGB officers, even though Robert is handled by Directorate "Y" and Lyalin was 13th Department.

It is, therefore, proposed that we conduct simultaneous separate interviews of [REDACTED]. These interviews could be initiated with a statement to the effect that undoubtedly the subjects had been expecting to be interviewed by the FBI since seeing the recent news from England and that we wish to discuss with them their relationship with the Soviets. Our approach could convey that we have the facts and that we are providing them with an opportunity to explain their positions.

If the subjects refuse to cooperate, we will have made clear to them our knowledge of their activities in a manner which will fully protect [REDACTED]. In addition, if they report the interviews to their Soviet principal, the Soviets will know they are of no further use. This will also force the Soviets into a sharp reappraisal of the damage caused by Lyalin's defection. For maximum effectiveness, these interviews should be conducted while press attention is still focused on events in England.

All offices should, therefore, promptly submit by airtel their observations and recommendations with regard to the above approach. New York should also consider in what other cases this approach might be useful.

FROM : SUPERVISOR

SUBJECT: SOVIET DIPLOMATIC PERSONNEL
ASSIGNED TO UNITED KINGDOM IS-R

On 9/24/71, at approximately 1 P.M., LISH WHITSON, a Bureau Supervisor assigned to the Soviet Section, telephonically contacted the writer, at which time he advised that the Bureau was in receipt of a cable from Legat, London which informed that the British Government had formally asked 91 Soviet diplomatic personnel types currently serving in Great Britain to leave the country within two weeks. According to WHITSON, these Soviets would be made up of embassy, trade delegations, Intourist, etc., and that no press personnel were being included. Further, any Soviet nationals currently visiting in Russia and possessing valid visas for reentry would not be allowed to return to England.

The British Government informed the Soviets that they would not be allowed to replace the 91 that were being expelled and that if the Soviets took any type of retaliation against British diplomatic personnel assigned to Russia, the British Government has the wherewithall to take other definitive action against the Soviet Government as a result of information furnished by the Soviet defector currently under British control.

WHITSON requested that we alert  and our other coverage for any playback we may receive in New York as a result of this rather dramatic and decisive British Government action against the Soviets.

him on Friday and returned to him on Saturday so that he could replace it on Monday. [REDACTED] Motive was mercenary Reurlet 9/23/71.

A careful review has been made of the questions set out in relet to be asked of Lyalin and it is felt that some of these questions are of such a nature that they presume the subject has knowledge which he does not have. For example, these questions presume that Lyalin has knowledge of Soviet illegal operations; however, the history which he has furnished to the British does not indicate that he has such knowledge. The Bureau will not forward these questions to [ ] for the purpose of interrogating the subject at this time. When we have received more information from [ ] concerning the extent of the subject's cooperation and the areas of knowledge which he has, these questions will be re-examined and used as a basis for further questioning of Lyalin by [ ]

The NYO anticipates that, in time, probably all photographs of Soviets assigned to the US will be shown to LYALIN for comment. The above may not be appropriate for some time and for the sake of expediency, all SA-s in the NYO, with Soviets assigned, were canvassed and asked to furnish the names of any Soviet who might be known to the subject by reason of age, nature of assignment, intelligence assignment or information from other sources. The following, who are included in attached memorandum, are a result of this survey:
